

PARIS LECTURES

Paris Lectures is a free, monthly creative meetup series featuring local creatives who share their stories. The events are designed to be fun, friendly and intimate. We always begin with a creative warm-up followed by a twenty minute talk, Q&A, and more chatting over drinks.

Why sponsor Paris Lectures?

The only local event of its kind

We're the only unaffiliated group in Paris hosting a monthly, dynamic series featuring and reaching the local creative community.

The timing is right

After a year of existence we've proven our events' success is not a fluke. We've established solid event logistics, but we are still fresh in people's minds. We've gained notoriety as an exclusive, engaging series that quickly sells out.

High quality, reliable content

Our attention to detail ensures every Paris Lectures event is a success, from promotional material all the way to wrap-up blog posts.

We are creative partners

We feel strongly about working with people and businesses as partners, ensuring our partnerships are mutually beneficial. As a small shop, we are also flexible, which allows us to try new things and stand out from the crowd.

Loyal audience of influencers

Our audience has proven they are the people in town to try things first then tell everyone else about what they love.

Extensive impact

Paris Lectures is just one aspect of what we do. Through the Jane & Jury blog we have developed an even wider-reaching platform we can use to cross-post messaging and spread content further.
